Massimo Sirelli

Born in Catanzaro in 1981, he approached the visual arts in adolescence influenced by the world of graffiti art. In his creative imagination, tools and supports mix, working with recycled objects and considered "garbage" by many, such as cans, bolts, pieces of metal. His works are published in some of the most important graphics and design books in the world published by Taschen Gestalten PepinPress and other well-known publishing houses. He is a freelancer in the field of cross-media advertising communication. Thanks to his personal and varied language, today he is among the most interesting Italian artists in the pop and urban art scene. He lives and works between Turin and Catanzaro.
